

IKE AND TRUMAN MAP LEADERSHIP CHANGE

WASHINGTON (INS)—President-elect Eisenhower and President Truman conferred for an hour and 15 minutes Tuesday and jointly declared they have "worked out a framework" for orderly transfers of governmental authority in a time of world crisis.

The joint statement issued after the momentous White House meeting made it clear that U. S. foreign policy was uppermost in the discussions—a 20-minute private talk and a session with top cabinet officers and Ike's two key aides.

The President and the General emphasized that "we have made no arrangements which are inconsistent with the full spirit of our Constitution" and stressed that Ike will have no responsibility for any decisions Mr. Truman makes in the period before inauguration day, Jan. 20.

The statement declared "under our Constitution, the President must exercise his functions until he leaves office, and his successor cannot be asked to share or assume the responsibilities of the presidency until he takes office."

The President-elect and Mrs. Eisenhower left Washington in their chartered airliner at 3:37 p.m. (CST) for New York, after being in the Capital exactly three hours and 25 minutes.

Gen. Eisenhower left the White House at 2:40 p.m. (CST) and went directly to the Pentagon, where he conferred with Defense Secretary Lovett and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, with the Korean War obviously the topmost topic.

Plans for Ike's Korean trip presumably were discussed. Besides Ike and the President, participants in the White House conference were Secretary of State Acheson, Defense Secretary Lovett, Treasury Secretary Snyder, Mutual Security Director Harriman, and the key Eisenhower aides, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge and budget expert Joseph M. Dodge.

Ike Expected To Make Early Trip To Korea

NEW YORK (INS)—Gen. Eisenhower arrived in New York Wednesday night for a round of conferences with top Republican leaders which is expected to complete the groundwork for Ike's trip to Korea, possibly next week.

The President-elect took off from national airport in Washington after conferring with President Truman and other top officials and receiving a tumultuous welcome in the nation's capital. The General and Mrs. Eisenhower motored immediately to their residence at Columbia University. Eisenhower descended the ramp from the airplane with his grandson, 4-year-old Dwight David, who was clutching a model airplane in one hand and a balloon in the other.

Ike's aides announced that day-long conferences have been scheduled with GOP congressional leaders Wednesday and other "important" visitors Thursday and Friday in New York.

Top legislative figures to confer with Ike in New York are Senate GOP policy chairman Taft, Ohio, Senate minority leader Bridges, N. H.; Rep. Martin, Mass., slated for house speakership, and Sen. Wiley, Wis., who is expected to head the senate foreign relations committee.

Ike's full schedule gives weight to speculation that he is trying to finish necessary work before taking off for Korea to seek an end to the bloody fighting.

known that the conference was "strictly business" and it was marked by correct official punctilio, with an absence of any public displays of warmth on either side.

Mr. Truman, after refusing to pose for pictures with Ike, reversed himself and permitted one cameraman, representing the entire press corps, to snap three highly revealing shots in the President's office.

The Pentagon conferees besides Ike and Lovett were:

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs and Ike's wartime comrade; Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff; Adm. William F. Fletcher, chief of Naval operations; Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Marine Corps commandant, and Gen. Nathan Twining, deputy to Air Force chief Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, who is in Asia.

The White House discussion included Ike's Korea mission, the hydrogen bomb, the nation's foreign policy in the explosive situation created by the menace of Communist aggression, and the government's huge budget.

Dignitaries on hand in the welcoming committee included Lodge, who looked like it was the happiest day of his life; GOP National Chairman Arthur Summerfield, Republican Senators Carlson of Kansas and Bridges of New Hampshire, and House speaker-to-be Martin of Massachusetts.

Populations Vary Greatly In State Legislative Districts

At Least One Senator Studying Figures For Discussion Of Redistricting

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

"Have shifts in population in Nebraska been sufficient in the past two decades to warrant a redistricting of the legislature?" a state senator inquired during a discussion of redistricting of Congress after the 1950 census.

He then announced that he was having studies made with the intent of introducing a redistricting bill at the coming session.

Check of the last census reports shows that the seven senators from Douglas County represent the average 40,145 persons while the three from Lancaster County average representing 39,914. The 30th district of Hall and Merrick has the largest population, 40,998.

In contrast, the 29th district consisting of Wheeler, Greeley, Valley and Howard Counties represents only 20,053. The 27th district, Boone and Antelope Counties, have 22,545 population of slightly less than the 39th with 22,405 scattered over 10 counties, Keith, Deuel, Garden, Logan, Hooker, Thomas, Blaine, Grant, McPherson and Arthur.

Another problem of legislators is keeping informed on the desires of legislators. In Douglas County they are concentrated with an average of 854 to the square mile while in the 39th district the representative has but 2.75 persons to the square mile, far less than the state average of 17.3.

There are less than 30,000 persons living in 23 of the 43 legislative districts.

Stevenson To Assume Leadership ... Of Demo Party

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (INS) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson returned to Springfield Tuesday with a determination to drop his role of the Democratic party's "reluctant dragon" and take "a hand in straightening out the weak spots" in the party's organization.

The Democratic party's defeated 1952 presidential nominee made his declaration to assume the role of party spokesman which tradition accords the nominee in a brief news conference at Chicago's Midway Airport enroute from Arizona to Springfield.

Stevenson, transferring planes, made his first declaration concerning his future when he told newsmen:

"I would like the privilege of expressing myself from time to time on important issues."

Titular Head

As Democratic spokesman and titular party head, Stevenson leads the most powerful "opposition party" in the nation's history. The defeated candidate apparently polled more votes than any other presidential aspirant in U. S. politics with the exception of the GOP victor, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Previously, the governor had avoided questions concerning his stepping into the role assigned him and he had said only in a prepared statement—no questions from reporters permitted then—that he would decide what to do when his term expires as governor of Illinois.

But apparently voicing a new determination arrived at during his five-day rest on the ranch of a friend at Sasabe, Ariz., Stevenson said in reply to questions that he is not considering any public service posts such as a university presidency or a government position in the United Nations.

He added that as soon as he turns the Illinois executive office over to GOP Governor-elect William G. Stratton, he intends to take a month-long vacation and then go to Chicago to "start making a living."

Funeral and burial will be in Lincoln.

Prisoners Riot Again In Michigan

2,000 Convicts Said
Under Physical Control

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—A riot involving around 2,000 convicts at one time, broke out in Southern Michigan Prison Tuesday night.

State police headquarters reported at 4:30 p. m. (CST) that the riot was under "physical control—but tense."

Southern Michigan Prison, the largest walled penitentiary in the world, was the scene of bloody and costly riots in April and July, when convicts seized guards as hostages to enforce demands.

Shortly after Tuesday night's riot broke out among 600 convicts in the dining hall, an additional 1,600 to 1,700 were reported to have broken from the dining hall line or from cellblocks and to be roaming the north yard of the prison.

Two fires, prison officials said, were set in the prison laundry, newly rebuilt following its destruction in the April rioting. Both blazes, set off in clothing, were reported to have been put out with out damage to machinery or the building.

State police rushed 140 armed troops to the big prison, plus nine quickly dispatched from the Jackson post. Eight armed guards were sent inside immediately.

$37,337 Damage Suit Filed In Federal Court

A damage suit of $37,337.29, brought by Harry F. Dingham against Ralph Green and W. L. Groesbeck, was transferred from Lancaster District Court and filed in Federal Court, Tuesday.

Dingham charges that he had an oral agreement with the defendants to handle their construction jobs in Lincoln. According to Dingham, the contract was not fulfilled.

Mamie 'Strictly Business' On Visit To Washington; Has Hospital Check

WASHINGTON (INS)—Mamie Eisenhower, just like her victorious husband, adhered to a "strictly business" policy Tuesday on her first visit to Washington as the nation's future first lady.

The piquant Mamie shunned President-elect Ike's victory motorcade and went instead from the Washington National Airport to Walter Reed Army Hospital for what was described as a "minor checkup."

Mrs. Eisenhower looked as pretty as a picture and as radiant as the roses presented to her by admiring Republicans when she stepped from the airliner in which she and Ike flew to Washington for the General's meeting with President Truman.

The Walter Reed checkup, friends explained, was an old Army habit Ike and Mamie acquired during their more than 35 years as a service couple.

The other womenfolk in the Ike party, Mamie's mother, Mrs. El-

Chamber Urges Financial Aid For Colleges

Financial support by business of the nation's non-tax supported colleges has been recommended in a resolution approved by the Policy Committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution stated that "The impact of income and estate taxation at steeply graduated rates has greatly diminished the opportunities for endowments and large gifts, formerly a great source of revenue for many of our non-tax supported colleges and universities."

The resolution must now be submitted to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce board of directors and Chamber members at the group's annual meeting next spring.

The resolution pointed out that business serves the interest of the nation as well as its own needs in financially supporting higher learning. Also stated was the "great contributions to science, education and citizenship which our non-governmental colleges and universities continue to make."

It was suggested also that gifts for unrestricted use should be made along with gifts for specific projects.

"All colleges and universities," said the resolution, "should be urged to teach all students the advantages of our free enterprise system which has fostered a greater dissemination of higher education than is found in any other country."

Woman, 73, Hurt In Traffic Mishap

Mrs. Claude Henzel, 73, 1726 B, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg, cuts on the head and bruises about the face in a pedestrian-auto accident at 14th and B Tuesday night.

Her condition is good, according to a physician at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Mrs. Henzel was crossing the intersection going east when Melvin B. Ward, 23, 1731 Washington, driving north on 14th, said he suddenly saw her, applied the brakes and tried to swerve the automobile which he was driving.

Contact was made at the right front fender of the Ward car.

A native of Hallam, Mrs. Peters lived most of her life in Firth and Lincoln. She was a member of Fourth Presbyterian Church.

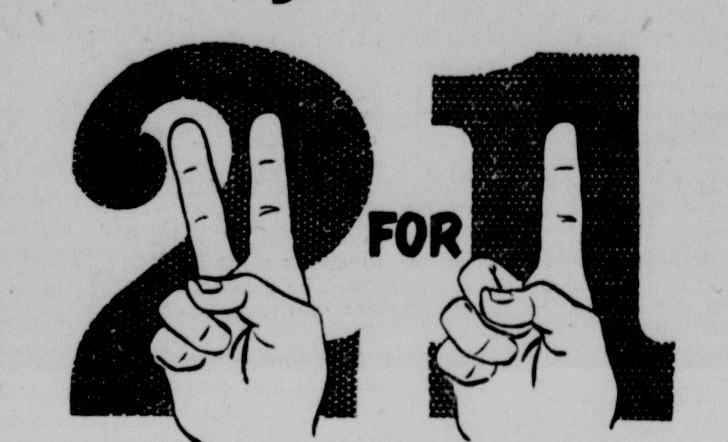

Survivors include her husband, Robert L. Peters of Lincoln; three daughters, Mrs. S. N. Menefee and Mrs. Dottie Krantz, both of Lincoln, and Mrs. V. D. Martin of Gasquet, Calif.; a son, Lawrence K.; a sister, Mrs. Earl Swiggart of Roca; four brothers, Edwin J. Young of Roca, W. R. Young of Tacoma, Wash., and Oral and Glenn D. BUY-WORD in the field of travel

WHEN was the last time you priced the new cars?

When was the last time you matched feature against feature, size against size, horsepower against horsepower—and discovered for yourself which car really tops the value parade?

We'll tell you this—

If you put any Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—against other cars of comparable cost, you'll find it the buy-word in the automobile market today.

Not alone on room, and power, and ride—and equipment included in the list price.

But also—and this is where your senses must be judge—in the thrill per dollar you get in a Buick.

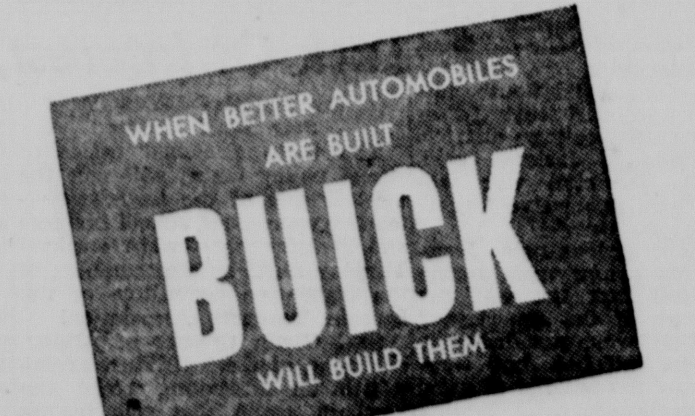

There's no other way to know the lift in spirit you get when a great Fireball 8 Engine is pouring out its high-mileage power, when Dynaflo Drive* is at its silky work, when a million dollars' worth of ride engineering is cradling your travel in ever-level comfort.

We'll tell you this, too—

If you can afford any new car you can afford a Buick. For Buick prices start way down where the so-called "low-priced three" really worry.

Drop in and let us show you the big-thrill buy called Buick.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on the Series.

Dixie Governors Urged Help Solve Race Problem

Talmadge Named As Chairman

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—A Texan urged Southern governors Tuesday to help President-elect Eisenhower solve the nation's racial problem.

Neville G. Penrose, chairman of the Texas "good neighbor commission," suggested a "grass roots approach." He said it would reverse the order of any federal fair employment (FEPC) law.

The executives of the 16 Southern states ended their two-day session at New Orleans with election of Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia as chairman. He succeeds Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas.

Gov. Shivers introduced Penrose who said:

"The Southern states can help Gen. Eisenhower by approaching the racial problem from the grass roots, thus relieving him of pressure from minority groups."

Mexican Influx
Penrose explained how the large influx of Mexicans along the 1,000-mile international border of Texas gave birth to local inter-racial groups in the Lone Star state.

He cited quiet but effective work by "human relations councils" that have been established locally. Penrose added:

"When these councils ever fail to work, it's usually due to only one thing—inertia."

Penrose continued:

"We are in a transitional period. The grass roots approach, such as we have undertaken in Texas, may eliminate pressure for FEPC laws which work downward rather than upward."

Election of Gov. Talmadge, stout foe of FEPC and opponent of President Truman's administration, was interpreted by some observers to mean the Dixie governors will maintain pressure to uphold state's rights.

Talk of political independence was highlighted throughout their first meeting since the presidential election.

The governors, meanwhile, endorsed the state of Missouri as a new affiliate with their southern conference.

This action came after Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma moved for inclusion of Missouri. He reported that Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri had expressed a desire to join the southerners.

Talmadge indicated that the next meeting will be held in Georgia, probably at Sea Island.

Mickey Rooney Marries Model; Wife Number 4

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS)—Actor Mickey Rooney and his fourth bride, shapely Hollywood model Elaine Mahnken, were honeymooning in Las Vegas Tuesday following their elopement and marriage late Monday night.

The pint-sized actor, who gave his age as 32, said that he was "really in love" and that the marriage with the 22-year-old model was "for keeps."

Rooney said the same thing when he married Alabama beauty Betty Jane Rose and actress Martha Vickers, wives No. 2 and 3. Rooney began his marital career with film star Ava Gardner in 1941.

Like all of the actor's previous wives, his current bride is several inches taller than he.

Trucking Vital Part Of U.S. Economy Rotary Club Told

"Trucking has reached a point where it is no longer a purely incidental phase of our national transport machinery, but a fundamental segment of our entire commercial and industrial transportation picture," Al Stratton of Detroit said at the Rotary Club meeting.

Stratton, sales engineer of the Timken-Detroit Axle Company, warned the group to guard against widely circulated charges that "trucks are usurping highways paid for by others," and that trucks alone are ruining America's roads. Citing 1951 tax figures, he pointed out that truck owners paid about one and one-third billion dollars to operate on public highways.

"There is no doubt at all that everyone benefits to some degree from trucking operations," he said, pointing out that the industry gives direct employment to one out of 11 persons employed in the country.

He further emphasized the importance of all modes of transportation co-operating together in order to promote a higher "standard of living."

Story By Dickens Urged For Bankers

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—A federal judge says that if he had his way he would sentence officials of the First National Bank at North Baltimore, O., to read Dickens' story of Scrooge at Christmastime.

Judge Frank L. Klee made that statement Monday as he set free George W. Spensler, 53, who had pleaded guilty to taking $7,500 from that bank when he was an assistant cashier.

The judge said: "The bank kept this man living like a pauper."

Spensler's attorney said he had paid back the money involved.

Amnesty Is Sought For 12 Jap War Criminals

TOKYO (Wednesday) (INS)—The Japanese Foreign Office said Tuesday it has asked ten nations to grant amnesty to the 12 major war criminals convicted with Hideki Tojo and still behind bars.

Judges of 11 nations sat on the tribunal which sentenced the major war criminals but Japan still is at war technically with Soviet Russia and therefore did not send an appeal to Moscow.

The amnesty request was sent to the United States, Great Britain, France, Nationalist China, The Netherlands, Australia, New Zealand, The Philippines, India and Canada.

What's Cookin' Now

By J. E. LAWRENCE

NEW YORK—If Winchell could parlay a keyhole into a fortune, what "key" will Sen. Joe McCarthy use to open the door of the White House in achieving a reputed ambition to become President of the United States?

It is a bit difficult to swallow the Lippmann-Alsop theory that Gen. Eisenhower's sweeping victory in early November relegates McCarthy to ultimate obscurity. McCarthy is a persistent, determined challenger for a spot—and a very sizable spot in the political spotlight. There have been times when it appeared that McCarthy had run out of gas—to speak figuratively—and a meteoric political career which came from out of nowhere was nearing its end. But always McCarthy has bounced back. There scarcely is an issue of the newspapers along the seaboard in which his name does not appear either on the editorial page or in the news columns—generally coupled with speculation as to his next move.

★ If he becomes chairman of a Senate committee investigating the sprawling agencies of government in Washington he could have a field day for a few months. All of the files would be available to him to dig into with a fine-tooth comb. His boundless energy is assurance that he would make the most of such an opportunity. But part of the tinsel is missing. The voters took care of that early in November when the party in power was ousted and the party to which Mr. McCarthy belongs took over. The country itself has altogether too much at stake to spend its total energies mulling over the past. One of the undercurrents which swept the Republicans into power was a desire for a fresh start and not a postmortem.

If the Democrats are as smart as they should be, there is nothing they might desire more than for a Republican-controlled Congress to neglect the future for the past. In our kind of world, one decision crisis for action before breakfast—still another breaks in on luncheon—and a third puts in its appearance ahead of the dinner hour. The sweep of events throughout the world is so rapid as to create the necessity for swift adjustment both in thinking and in action.

★ The key to all this may rest with "Mr. Republican," Sen. Bob Taft. He already has served notice that he does not propose to relinquish his leadership in the legislative branch. As a warning to some of his hopeful, ambitious colleagues, near the close of the week he served notice that he would seek the post of determining policy which he enjoyed after his triumph in the senatorial campaign in Ohio. The fact that Taft may occupy the central role is an assurance that Congress may be held to a steady course. He has marched both with and against McCarthy on occasion.

★ Shortly before leaving home a friend wrote raising the question as to whether the schools and the colleges might not be drawn in on a new "Red" hunt. It is a good question which will be answered only as events unfold. In broad outline, that could revive in each of the states the fight that started over the demands for enactment of legislation setting up loyalty oaths, or in those states which now have them, a tightening of their provisions. In the extreme program, the establishment of loyalty boards on a local level to provide a channel for the filing of complaints against individuals, with provision for hearing and review, might be the final step. And of course on the federal level there could be a 12-months' open season.

★ Against such a development it can be anticipated that the issue itself would start just about the hottest debate that has taken place in many, many years. At stake is freedom of thought. In all the millions of words which have been spilled, the opportunity has not presented itself to dramatize the implications of a standard pattern of thought in this land of the free and the brave. What is needed most of all is a national spirit of unity to rally behind a common cause. In the brief interlude since election the most gratifying, hopeful reaction has been acceptance of the results in the finest spirit. It is to be hoped that the years of rancor give way to years of good feeling.

Study In Brown

One of the most gorgeous stretches of countryside this side of paradise follows the Connecticut coastline in a swing from the Cape Cod country down to old Manhattan. It cuts through woods of oak, birch and pine—bisected generously by tiny inlets of the sea.

There are two seasons of the year when nature's lavishness is unforgettable. One is late spring when the trees have burst into full leaf, the air is heavy with the fragrance of wild flowers, and the waters shortly will welcome a lush crop of vacationers seeking refuge from the heat of the crowded cities. Then and there can be seen the wonderful miracle which unlimited water can achieve in working hand in hand with even the poorest soil. The second "Show of Shows" in that region puts in an appearance after the first heavy frost—usually in the opening days of October. Then the colors of the woods defy the genius of all the artists who seem to be drawn to this hospitable section.

It was neither late spring nor early fall when we came through late last week. And there was a hint of sadness in the reminder that natural beauty is so fleeting temporarily. Here also was the evidence of nature's slumber and reawakening to a new, fresh glory. We had just read in the venerable Boston Traveler a salute to the solid, solemn browns of the countryside. It is convincing because all of us more or less crave variety—the changing menu provided by the seasons. There is a time for blue skies, mellow sunshine, green hills and valleys—a time for the outdoors. There is also a time for gray skies, chilling winds and drifting snowflakes, obscuring the somber brown of sleeping fields and woods.

It is a simple trick to let the mind wander back over the earlier years of this old country—old when computed in terms of America—to reconstruct the hopes of its youth. In that sense there seems to be a genuine propriety in its present garb of somber brown. The theme song one encounters in a segment of the press is that the rest of the country is growing at its expense. There is one good for an argument morning, noon and night.

Papagos'—And Our—Victory

The victory of a 68-year-old military hero in the Greek national elections is cheering news that indicates the United States has received plenty in return for its large investment in post-war Greece.

The struggle to build a wall against Communism began with the Truman Doctrine which warned the Soviet Union against taking aggressive action in that crucial country. The battle reached its high point and resulted in a great strategic victory for the western world in the elections which gave Papagos a resounding majority.

The Communist-supported parties, operating with the blessing and underground support of the Kremlin, fared miserably. The people of Greece took their stand in no uncertain terms, choosing to stand by those who have befriended them for more than five years.

Marshall Papagos falls under the category of "strong man," but there is nothing in his record or makeup which indicates he would engage in dictatorial activities. He will deal firmly with the anti-American groups whose violent attacks reached a crescendo in the days immediately preceding the elections, but he also will retain the basic liberties which have become rooted in Greece since its liberation from occupation during World War II.

The West won an important decision which is being too casually accepted. If the Communist forces had won in the battle of the ballots, we would have been dismayed at another enemy gain. As it is, we should celebrate our victory.

Something To Talk About

When it comes to barbers, every man has his own strong opinion. In Lincoln it is possible to find barbers not only of varying ability but of all degrees of talkativeness.

The discussion this week may range from how Nebraska could have beaten Minnesota (everyone is sure HE knows how it could have been done) to hashing over the election. In between there might be some discussion about the hunting season, the Lincoln's A's baseball franchise, or that best of all subjects—the weather. "Had quite a rain the other night, didn't we?" is a good conversational opener as the barber whips the protective sheet around a customer.

All of which leads to an item in the news columns reporting the result of an experiment. A tractor company in Peoria, Ill., invited the town's 202 barbers to tour its factory on their day off. More than 100 barbers accepted, had lunch as guests of the company, asked a lot of questions. It was so successful that the company plans to make its Barbers Day an annual affair.

The idea behind the invitation, of course, was to give the barbers some interesting new subjects to talk about and at the same time give the company a boost. In a hundred barber shops in Peoria this week there must have been a "Say, have you seen that new tractor they got down at the factory?" or a "Mighty slick machines the farmers use nowadays" to start off a conversation. Opens up a whole new field to barber and customer alike.

If this idea gets a foothold, barbers soon will be getting a free education on topical subjects through organized tours. A whole new communications process could be constructed, with the barber serving as middle-man. The man in the chair would not only get his hair cut or his face shaved, but he'd be brought up to date on the industrial progress of his city.

It might work, if all the assistant coaches both in the chair and behind it could forget that game with Minnesota last Saturday.

Of Mice And Men

A pair of German scientists have discovered the interesting fact that mice become more aggressive when they are in the dark. Turn out the lights, the scientists found, and the mice will begin fighting among themselves. Turn on the lights and they become peaceful once again. The tests were conducted by taking pictures with infra-red rays.

Perhaps some members of the fair sex might suggest that what applies to mice also applies to men.

New H-Bomb Problems Confronting Scientists

WASHINGTON—Here are some of the views of top American scientists behind the official announcement of the first explosion of our first hydrogen bomb:

1—We know now that the H-bomb can be made. Prior to this, we simply did not know. It was a most uncertain experiment. But we also know that before long the Russians also are bound to have an H-bomb.

2—For psychological reasons it was imperative that the free world beat the Russians in developing the first H-bomb. If the Russians had announced its perfection before we did, it might have thrown the free world, especially Western Europe, into panic.

3—The H-bomb will have only a limited number of targets when used by us, whereas for Russia it would have many more targets. In other words, the number of Russian industrial cities exposed is limited. And to the cold view of military strategists, there is no use wasting an H-bomb on a medium-sized industrial city. On the other hand, our great industrial cities—Detroit, Pittsburgh, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia—fully merit the use of H-bombs by an enemy.

4—Scientists still do not know what might happen to the world's atmosphere if a large number of hydrogen bombs were to be exploded almost simultaneously. If, for instance, 100 H-bombs were to be exploded in a short interval, the atmosphere of the earth might become so saturated with radioactive material that all life on this planet would be destroyed.

Scientists still do not know how much radioactive matter the atmosphere can stand, and some fear the final answer may come when it is too late.

★ Since the United States is such an attractive H-bomb target, the scientists felt it was imperative that we know as much as possible about the new bomb so we can at least partly defend ourselves against it. This was the reason for the rushed-up Eniwetok explosion.

We needed to know, for instance, how big an airplane was needed to carry the new bomb; how much damage it will do; what kind of air-raid shelters are necessary to protect the civilian population; how fast must an airplane travel away from an H-bomb explosion after the bomb is dropped, to avoid damage; how much material must be diverted from making atomic bombs in order to make hydrogen bombs.

All these things made it necessary to stage the Eniwetok test, as a result of which many of these questions were answered.

Theoretically there's no limit to the size of an H-bomb. It can be made 50, 100, 1,000 or 10,000 times as powerful as an A-bomb. The chief limit is the necessity of making the bomb small enough to be carried by plane and not so big as to be wasted on medium-sized targets.

This is why the chief work on the atom bomb in recent years has been to reduce its size and weight without reducing destructiveness. The same experimentation will now take place regarding the H-bomb. From now on, scientists will concentrate on making it smaller and lighter.

Most important problem the scientists have to worry about is that the H-bomb uses large quantities of precious material that also goes into the A-bomb. So, for every H-bomb we make, we lessen the production of A-bombs.

★ All these things point up the fact that while we have been developing the weapons of war, we have fallen lamentably far behind in developing the instruments of peace.

—JET ACE—

One of the unwritten rules of the Korean War is how America's top jet ace, Maj. Fred (Boats) Blesse, fought red tape so he could be sent back to Korea to fight Russian MIGs.

For the better part of a year, Blesse bombarded his friends in the Pentagon with letters, pleading with them to pull strings so he could be transferred to Korea. This was after he had already flown 102 missions in F-80 fighter bombers, and had been rotated home in May, 1951.

What he wanted to do, however, was fly F-86 Sabrejets and get into the battle against the MIGs. But it was against Air Force policy for one pilot to serve two tours of duty in Korea.

It took Blesse until March, 1952, to make himself an exception to that rule. He wrote dozens of letters, pleaded that he was "not getting younger" and was "never more combat ready in any aircraft."

After Blesse finally got back to Korea, within a few months he had shot down nine MIGs and become the leading jet ace in Korea. He chased one MIG so far over the Yellow Sea that he ran out of fuel and was forced to bail out into the sea. But he shot down the MIG first.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Sen. Taft has passed the word that he favors Bridges of Hampshire or Dirksen of Illinois as Senate majority leader. If Bridges won't take it and Dirksen can't get it, Taft indicated he would take the job himself. . . . Gen. Matthew Ridgway has canceled plans for 12 aircraft carriers, which were supposed to be used for the defense of Europe. This action was taken as a result of the joint naval maneuvers in the North Atlantic, which turned out to be a flop. . . . If Sen. Nixon wants to save himself a lot of headaches during the next four years he'd better make public his income tax returns. The Democratic National Committee plans to keep hammering on this subject—for four years if necessary.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Eisenhower Won't Find Easy Answer In Korea

WASHINGTON—To make good on all the promises that were in his campaign speeches, President Eisenhower would have to be a superhero in a tearing hurry. The pressure to deliver on the promises is one of the heavy burdens the incoming President will carry into office with him. It will ride with him in his difficult and dangerous journey to view the war in Korea at first hand.

Certainly it was not surprising that millions of Americans responded to the suggestion in an Eisenhower speech in the last week of the campaign that by a personal visit he might help to find a way to end the war. There is a deep longing for a quick end to the nagging conflict with its continuing drain of men and money.

But Eisenhower may decide that the cost in casualties of an all-out effort to end the war together with the risk of spreading the fighting are too great. He will be told of a plan for gradually eliminating American troops who now hold about one-third of the front line. As evoked by Gen. James Van Fleet with his commanding officer, Gen. Mark Clark, and the top policy-makers in the Pentagon, the plan is in essence as follows:

The training and equipping of two, and perhaps three, additional South Korean divisions.

The addition of another non-American U.N. division; in addition, that is, to the British Commonwealth division and the units from Turkey, Greece, France, the Philippines, and other countries now serving with U.S. divisions.

All this to be done within a year to two years, thereby making it possible to pull half the American troops out of Korea, taking them back to Japan or sending them to other trouble centers.

It is on timing that the greatest disagreement has developed. Van Fleet believes the Korean divisions can be trained in a year if equipment can be found. The Pentagon believes that because of the great pressure for arms from all quarters, the likelihood is that two years would be required to put two or three new ROK divisions in the field. More than 55 per cent of the line is now manned by South Koreans.

This is not sensational. It is not a quick answer to the Korean riddle. Nor does it contemplate the withdrawal of all American troops. Officers directing modern artillery fire must know higher mathematics. You can take a Korean peasant out of the fields and in fairly short order make him a good soldier. But you cannot overnight teach him trigonometry.

"Patience is a commodity as important as power," Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, said in a speech the other day. "This is one lesson we might well learn from the Russians and the Communists. Time, they believe, is working on their side. They have openly predicted our economic collapse, and they are patiently counting on the pressure of a long period of tension to bring about political discord and dissension among the western allies. . . . But I firmly believe that our united efforts in Korea and our steadfast progress in NATO have shaken their confidence in this 'cat-and-mouse' waiting game. Steady co-operation and progress can shake it even more."

The patient, persistent approach to Korea is the one that Bradley believes will finally convince the Communists that aggression does not pay. This view is shared by Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett, who will shortly step out. Those who take this line see the holding operation in Korea as a part of the general task of order-keeping that has fallen to America's lot because of the vacuum of power left after World War II. They point out that during the three or four months of almost complete stalemate, American casualties averaged only two men for each American division at the front in Korea. During the century or more when the British maintained a pax Britannica throughout much of the world, the cost in casualties of guarding the Rhyber Pass and India's northwest frontier was certainly greater.

That is how it looks from the perspective of those who argue that if the United States does not accept this responsibility, then by default large chunks of strategic real estate will fall into the Communist abyss. That process can go just as far before America's vital interests are threatened in a way so glaring as to be inescapable. Supply lines for obtaining uranium and other essential commodities are threatened. This last, incidentally, is the theme of a lecture that Eisenhower gave almost a visitor to his SHAPE headquarters. At the point of imminent danger the United States alone fights a war at the greatest disadvantage. (Copyright, 1952, by U.F. Syndicate, Inc.)

THE PEOPLE SPEAK

Of Bryan, Hens, Debts And Rain

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The location of Bryan's statue is a small matter. But the place of William Jennings Bryan in history and in the hearts of his fellow citizens is very important.

The Great Commoner was one of the greatest of the leaders of American political thought that finally broke up the glacier-like reactions that extended over the whole period from the death of Abraham Lincoln to the accession of Theodore Roosevelt as President. No other American ever presented the cause of liberal government directly to so many people as did Bryan. No other man before him ever received so many votes as candidate for the presidency. He came within an ace of winning through in 1896. The moral grandeur of the man was exemplified when he stood up in the Baltimore convention of 1912 and championed the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson over that of his old comrade in arms, Champ Clark; and further exemplified when he resigned the second highest office in the United States because he felt he could not follow a course of action that would lead us into war with Germany.

Nebraska must have seemed a bit quiet and bleak to him after he said, "Goodbye and God bless you," to Woodrow Wilson and returned to Lincoln—no job, little money, popularity at a low ebb. Those who would do as much for principle are entitled to the privilege of criticism. What do Nebraska's expect of a man who gave so much and took so little in the cause of civic righteousness? Some of Bryan's carping critics almost justify the words of Mark Anthony in his funeral oration over Julius Caesar: "The evil that men do lives after them. The good is oft interred with their bones."

THE THROATY-VOICED GAL
It was entirely the fault of women in the house—my wife for insisting 14 years ago upon naming our son after me, and our daughter's for assuming last night that a young lady with a throaty, torch-singer kind of voice could possibly want to talk to me on the telephone, no matter who she asked for.

It was Mrs. F.'s fault on another count, also, because when she registered our son for dancing lessons at one of these personalized studios downtown, she followed directions slavishly in filling out the form they gave her—where it had blanks for first name, middle initial and last name.

Our son's first name is the same as mine, but we have called him by his middle name, Lee, ever since we stopped calling him "it," and that is what she should have put on the registration blank. She didn't. She put "Ed." So when the young lady with the torch-singer voice called last night and asked for Ed, our daughter said "Just a minute," and summoned me.

"Hello," I said into the transmitter, and as I said it I heard Merrilee telling her mother, "Gee, that girl on the telephone has a nice voice. I'll bet she's pretty! Why would anyone like that want to talk to daddy?"

"Hello, Ed," crooned the young lady on the other end of the telephone line. "This is Loraine."

"How do you do," I said formally, trying to place the voice. I did not realize that the dancing instructors are trained to overcome shyness, as well as awkward feet, among their pupils. I waited for some further clue.

"Would you mind terribly," Loraine said huskily, "if I changed our appointment from four o'clock to three o'clock tomorrow afternoon? Some people are coming into town, you see."

"Three o'clock?" I croaked, trying desperately to remember an appointment, and slanting a cautious glance at Mrs. F., who tried to look like she was not listening. The only appointment I could remember was one for 6 o'clock, with a man who was coming to see about fertilizer for the lawn.

"Three o'clock," repeated Loraine. "It would be sweet if you could manage it."

"Well," I spurred, "I don't know. You see, my wife . . ."

There was a gasp on the telephone.

"Your wife?" Loraine was obviously astonished. "You never told me! How long—" ful poultry enterprise a sideline on Nebraska farms. Science and technology have been put to practical use. Broilers are grown in units ranging from 2,000 to 20,000 birds and laying flocks of 1,000 to 2,000 hens are recognized as being minimum size for profit production.

Farm producers do not realize the effect these changes have on their small farm flocks. Farmers used to say it was "the hens, the cow, and the sow" that pulled them through when times were tough. Many of these farmers still have the hen—1915 style. Unless they change to a 1952 model and practice up-to-date methods of production, they will find that the hen will no longer be in the picture.

One of the best methods of presenting new information to the public is through newspaper reporting—the type The Star gave our convention.

City And Country

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The following is entitled "Rain" but it might also be called "Viewpoint":

The rain on the city street
With a monotonous and steady beat.
The city man leaving his flat
Turns down the brim of his old rain hat.
Cursing the weather, rain and fog,
Too irritated to put his dog
He can only suppress a sigh.
Grumblingly tells his wife goodby,
Wishing himself as yet in bed
He goes to earn their daily bread.

The farmer listening to the rain
Saw the land turn green again
Called his wife to come and see
The beauty of their acreage free.
And they talked about the weather
For such and farming go together.
We will buy land if crops are good
Send son to college was understood.

National Debt

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am not mathematically minded nor anything of a financial wizard, though I have given some study to our national money system. John L. Talbot of Kirkwood, Mo., is all that I am not in the field mentioned. Mr. Talbot is now well past four score years of age, has made a life study of the subject of finance and is still studying and writing on this money question in a commendable effort to enlighten an indifferent American public.

In a late communication I have from this earnest student and teacher, he informs me he received his original insight into the U.S. national financial system from the late illustrious historian, John Clark Ridpath, whom as a school boy he knew personally and whose history he studied as a textbook.

In this letter dated Oct. 29, 1952, its author advises me that the debts in this nation are increasing at such a prodigious rate that he can scarcely keep up with them. On that date he says the national debt was $64,800 million dollars, which means that it takes 20 billion dollars to pay one year's interest on this debt. The present debts, both public and private, he says total $89 billion dollars.

"No one," writes this sage correspondent of mine, "can be so dumb as to think this can go on permanently without another industrial collapse such as I have experienced three times in my life, as well as half a dozen lesser panics."

O. BYRON COPPER

Federal Funds

Brock, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There were some misleading statements in the press last week pertaining to the five-dollar federal increase in assistance, and I feel that corrective comment should be made.

Nebraska does not match federal funds. Of the present $55 maximum of federal participation, federal pays $35 and Nebraska only $20. Before October 1, it was federal $30 and Nebraska $25. If Nebraska matched dollar for dollar as is done for federal highways, recipients would receive a minimum of $70 instead of the present $60 maximum.

Obviously there is something drastically wrong with the department's computations when 90 per cent of the recipients cannot establish a budgetary need of $55 in these inflationary times. In fact, Gov. Peterson contended on a national TV program that our dollar is worth only 31 cents. On that basis, $55 is worth only $17.05, and the present average monthly allocation of $20.31 to Nemaha County direct relief recipients is worth only $6.30. Mr. Peterson has not—and I think he cannot—cite any state law prohibiting the department from liberalizing computations sufficiently so that all recipients would receive the five-dollar federal increase as Congress intended. Under the present set-up, Nebraska is taking at least a million dollars a year of the federal allocations from its recipients.

Traditionally women have always fought for justice and decency. Claims have been made that women elected Eisenhower. What have Nebraska's women's organizations done about the many-year-old Nebraska assistance fiasco?

New Viaduct Offers State Way To Save U.S. Funds

The proposed new O Street viaduct here offers a means of saving for Nebraska some federal aid funds which otherwise would be lost to the state, State Engineer Harold Aitken said Tuesday.

The Lincoln City Council plans to declare the segment of right-of-way involved "out of bounds" so the county can assume responsibility and qualify for the federal aid needed to build the viaduct.

The proposed structure would replace the present antiquated viaduct over the Burlington Railroad yards. The estimated cost is $1,500,000.

Under federal law, a new or replacement structure where a highway grade crossing separation is involved can qualify for 100 percent federal aid. The only exception is the right-of-way, which cost must be met on a matching basis, dollar for dollar.

About $2,400,000 of the $11,800,000 in federal aid secondary money now "on the shelf" for Nebraska will be lost to the state if not obligated by June 30. Out of this $2,400,000 would come the $1,500,000 which it is proposed to spend on the viaduct.

"You can't wait until June 15 to begin talking about obligating it, either, because plans must be drawn and bids called for," Aitken explained.

When the O street project is programmed, there still would be

Boys Admit Piling Rocks On Tracks

FAIRBURY, Neb. (AP)—Five boys from the Jansen, Neb., vicinity have admitted they piled rocks on Burlington railroad tracks near here, according to investigating officers.

The pile was struck by Burlington passenger train No. 15 going west at about 4:20 p.m., on Nov. 9. The train was not derailed and there was no great damage.

Identity of the boys was established in an investigation by V. L. Clark, railroad special agent, and city and county officers. The boys could give no good reason for their actions, Clark said.

Nebraska's color scheme of black numerals on a yellow background will be shared in 1953 with South Carolina, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Several Cities Say Community Chest Drives Lagging

Scottsbluff Behind Goal Fifth Year

By The Associated Press
Community Chest campaigns are encountering tough sledding in several Nebraska cities, an Associated Press survey indicates.
At Scottsbluff, the drive has fallen short of its goal for the fifth year in a row and there has been some talk of disbanding the organization.
At Beatrice, the contributions have been under those of last year, Kearney has topped last year's mark but is still short of its goal.

The Omaha campaign brought a new all-time high in the amount contributed—$1,142,048.58—but this was still under the $1,194,262 goal set for the city.

As usual Lincoln is a bright spot on the Community Chest map. This year, for the first time, Lincoln combined its Chest and Red Cross drives and topped its over-all goal of $467,653 by $205.

City-by-city reports:
Beatrice: Goal is $35,000 and last report showed gifts of $25,000. A year ago at this time the campaign had brought in $12,000 of an $18,000 goal.

Kearney: With drive ending this week, $14,529 of $20,301 quota has come in. Final figure expected to be about $15,500. Last year Kearney met about $12,000 of an $18,000 goal.

Scottsbluff: Final report showed $26,450, or $5,550 short of the $32,000 sought.

Fremont: Goal was topped handsomely. Aimed at $37,845, collected $40,321.08.

North Platte: Although contributions of $11,484 are not up to $15,500 goal, it's the most ever contributed in North Platte and Chairman Charles Novak termed the drive "quite successful."

Grand Island: Last year Grand Island topped its target figure for the first time in four years. This year's goal is $44,568 and $36,000 has been collected. Campaigners are considering a "tag day" to raise additional money.

Hastings: Goal is $50,000. Collections to date total $37,500, with residential drive continuing.

SHOWERS IN EAST—Showers are forecast for Wednesday in the Middle Atlantic states, the Appalachians, the central Gulf and the southern limits of the Florida peninsula. 69th Anniversary Of Time Zone Establishment Noted

OMAHA (AP)—Tuesday marked the 69th anniversary of a day that helped bring order out of chaos on the matter of telling time.

Prior to Nov. 18, 1883, every American community had its own time zone, based on the sun's position. When it was noon in Chicago, for instance, it was 12:31 p.m. in Pittsburgh, 11:50 in St. Louis, 11:27 in Omaha.

This was mighty confusing to something like a railroad, the Union Pacific railroad's public relations department noted.

A traveler going from Eastport, Me., to San Francisco had to change his watch at least 20 times.

But 69 years ago Tuesday, the nation's railroads set up a plan for four time zones based upon mean sun time on the meridians numbered 75, 90, 105 and 120 west of Greenwich.

The day came to be known as the "Day of Two Noons" because some cities in each time zone, by

Southern Panhandle's Wheat In Good Condition For Winter

The summer-fallow wheat in the southern Panhandle, as a result of recent and earlier precipitation, is now in "good condition" to weather the winter.

This was the estimate of the State-Federal Bureau of Agricultural Statistics Tuesday in its weekly crop report. The wheat in that section of Nebraska is in far better position than the crop is anywhere else in the state, the office said.

The wheat outlook in eastern Nebraska is also much better since the rain, crop officials say.

The report bore out earlier estimates that the wheat in the southwestern and central portions, comprising about 40 per cent of the wheat area of the state, was improved slightly, if at all, by the scanty rain and snowfall in those sections.

More Moisture Needed
The snow and rain that has fallen in the southern Panhandle this fall totals more than an inch of moisture. In other sections of Nebraska the outlook is still extremely poor, with only summer-fallow wheat expected to survive the winter ahead. However, much of the wheat could still survive if sufficient moisture arrived before the ground freezes up. This wheat has not as yet developed its secondary root system and while it might survive the winter, past records show that it would produce only a light crop.

The report pointed out that about one-fourth of the state's wheat crop is still without moisture.

Corn Harvest Ending

The report also said the corn harvest is practically completed, with moisture content running low and the quality good. Much of the corn crop is being placed under government loan.

Following is the precipitation report for the past week:

Specifications call for 46,500 square yards of concrete, 9 and 12 inches thick, plus more than 200,000 cubic yards of excavation and 3,700 feet of drains. About 135 acres also will be seeded in grass under the contract.

Work will start in two weeks.

L. L. Krohn Is Crushed To Death In Elevator

Leland Leon Krohn, 32, 1234 J. Kan., then to Carroll, Neb., in 1927. He attended grade and high school at Sidney, where he moved in 1934.

In 1943 he moved to Deshler where he worked at the Deshler Broom Factory for two years. He moved to Lincoln in 1945 and was employed by Goodwill Industries until taking the job at Gold's.

He was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church, the Walther League Society and Lutheran Laymen League.

Surviving are his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Krohn of Sidney; three sisters, Mrs. Eulalia Kilgore and Mrs. William McCown, both of Cheyenne, and Miss Lois Krohn of Doniphan; and grandmother, Mrs. William Krohn of Bloomfield.

Investigators of the accident said Krohn evidently was operating the elevator with an emergency switch. It was found that the safety barrier on the elevator could not close because of the large number of empty boxes being hauled.

Officials speculated that the car was going up when Mr. Krohn became wedged between the floor of and the doors on the second floor. It could not be determined what caused the accident.

Mr. Krohn had worked at Gold's as a freight elevator operator since March, 1951. Officials at the store said Mr. Krohn's physical disability as a result of polio did not contribute to the accident.

Born at Auburn, Mr. Krohn moved as a child to Netawaka,

Defendant Is Favored By District Verdict

District Judge Harry R. Ankeny gave a directed verdict in favor of the defendant, Farmers Insurance Exchange, in the suit brought by Mrs. Dorothy Baird.

Mrs. Baird had charged that the insurance company was liable for the damage of her car after a collision. The insurance company answered that Mrs. Baird's policy did not cover her husband, who was driving the car at the time of the collision.

"I directed the verdict after the defendant moved that I do so when it became apparent that the question was not a factual one, but legal," Judge Ankeny explained.

Citizens' Complaints

On Taxes 'Too Late'

Three Lancaster County citizens appeared before the Board of Commissioners, Tuesday, to complain that their property taxes are too high.

Chairman Chauncey Barney said that the time had passed to file complaints. "If errors have been made, the time to file a complaint was in May when the Board of Equalization met," Barney said.

Mistakes, other than mistakes made by the person preparing the tax statement or the assessor, must be corrected before the taxes are paid, or the taxes should be paid under protest, to leave the matter open for consideration, Barney told the citizens.

Lower Voting Age Urged Because 'Young People Know More Today'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Judge Guy K. Bard thinks the voting age should be lowered because young men and women of today have far greater political knowledge than their parents or grandparents when they were young.

"There are in this country today," the judge said, "influential leaders who prate of their confidence in the capacity of the rising generation yet they oppose every attempt to lower the voting age to 18 years."

—Korea— Air Battles Open Over Japan Sea

ROK's Hold Rocky Point In Hand Grenade Fight

SEOUL (Wednesday) (INS)—American Navy and Air Force jet fighters knocked three more Russian-built MIG-15 jets from Korean skies Tuesday in battles scattered from MIG Alley in the West to the Sea of Japan in the East.

At the same time valiant South Korean foot soldiers further entrenched themselves in the vital Sniper Ridge sector on the central front by holding Rocky Point in a hand-grenade and rifle battle with 150 Chinese.

American Superforts launched a new round of air strikes early today against Communist targets deep in North Korea.

The B-29s bombed an enemy supply center at Sonchon in northwest Korea 35 miles south of Manchuria and also hit the Unpari communications center five miles south of Sarwon.

The challenge of Allied sea power in the Sea of Japan was a significant development as until Monday Allied ships were able to operate off Korea's east coast with little or no challenge from enemy air.

3 Carriers

In Tokyo the Navy said that three carriers of Task Force 77, the Oriskany, the Essex and the Kearsarge, launched heavy attacks Monday against the East Coast centers of Chongjin, Kyongsong and Kilchu.

It was also reported that American carrier-based Pantherjet fighters scored a victory over Communist MIG jets in an aerial duel less than 20 miles from Russian Siberia.

(In the original announcement of the clash, the Navy in Washington said the battle took place far to the south about 100 miles southeast of the port of Chongjin).

Nebraska Students Impressed By United Nations 'Spirit' After Visit To New York

"The spirit which seems to permeate the United Nations" was what most impressed one Nebraska student who returned Tuesday afternoon from a three-day United Nations Seminar in New York City.

Don Pieper of Omaha, a senior at the University of Nebraska, summed up his reactions to the international organization this way: "The atmosphere in the United Nations buildings, which alone are extremely beautiful, seems to indicate that the delegates are all doing their best to succeed—even though there are 60 different ones trying to put over their individual program."

And Victor Dye of Rosalie, Nebraska Wesleyan student, said his main reaction was the realization that there were "honest, sincere people in the U.N. trying to get something accomplished."

'Not Only Problem'

Furthermore, he pointed out, Russia is not the only problem in the United Nations.

"The United States also has been pulling some tricks," he added.

They were two of 54 Nebraska students from the University of Nebraska, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Doane College and Wayne State Teachers College who met and talked with United Nations officials and sat in on UN sessions at the YWCA-YMCA sponsored seminar.

The Nebraska students heard and met with representatives of the Iranian, Egyptian, Yugoslav and U. S. delegations to the U. N. General Assembly's budget committee at which he heard the "bombastic" talk by Sen. Wiley.

"And when the Russian delegate answered his charges," Miss O'Dell said, "there wasn't a sound in the room."

She admitted that the U. N. is a lot bigger and more efficient than she had thought. Furthermore, she added, I was surprised that the majority of delegates were present for meetings.

The representative from the Egyptian delegation who talked to one group particularly fascinated Janis Schmidtman of Omaha, who said he seemed to be "anti" almost everything. While he seemed to crusade for human rights, Miss Schmidtman said, he also felt that more than just one nation should have a hand in forming them.

Watts Defendant In Two Accident Suits

Two petitions were filed in District Court Tuesday naming Phelix N. Watts as defendant. Both suits are accident damage suits.

According to the petitions, brought by Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Smith, Watts' car was parked on Highway 77 near Princeton on Aug. 20 at 10:40 p.m. The Smiths charge that Watts did not have the lights of his car burning and did not have warning signals placed in front and in back of his car.

The Smith car collided with Watts' automobile.

Mrs. Smith asks damages of $10,000 and Smith asks $7,389.05.

HIROSHIMA, Japan (Wednes- day) (INS)—Hiroshima and Nagasaki A-bomb survivors today shuddered at reports the United States has developed a bomb 100 times stronger than the bombs which seared their cities with flashes "brighter than the sun."

Words were inadequate to express the awe that the survivors felt, so they fell back on well worn phrases such as "all we can do is pray," or "a chill ran down my spine," or "my hair stood on end."

A Japanese with ugly radiation welts burned across his body, who calls himself Hiroshima's "atom victim No. 1," clutched the souvenir pictures which he sells for a living and said:

"They tell me the hydrogen bomb is 10 times brighter than the sun. What can I say? All we can do is pray."

In Nagasaki, Deputy Mayor Kaoru Naruse said:

"A chill ran down my spine when I read about the H-bomb test. I know what an atom bomb can do and that is plenty."

Nagasaki city councillor Kamekichi Sugimoto, who still carries scars inflicted by the A-bomb, commented:

"The thought that the H-bomb is 100 times more powerful than the A-bomb caused my hair to stand on end. Scientific progress is good, but it has become a tragedy of mankind when this progress is being used solely to wage war."

"No Words"

A 26-year-old girl victim of the atomic bomb which leveled the Japanese troop city of Hiroshima, Miss Sumiko Yano, said:

"I bear about 200 scars all over my body, including more than 50 on my face."

"There are still many pieces of glass inside me."

"I have no words to express my feelings about the H-bomb, which has horrible power..."

All Over Again

"All I can say is—don't tell me they are going to start all over again."

Professor Goko Mimura, chairman of the Hiroshima University Theoretical Physics Institute, said:

"We, the first victims of the A-bomb, cannot help but feel that mankind is exposing itself to a miserable fate one hundred times worse than that of Hiroshima."

Merger Of Three Lutheran Synods Studied At Meet

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Leaders of the United Lutheran Church in America are seeking ways to effect a merger of three synods which have a total membership of 77,000 persons in six midwestern states.

The three synods are those of Nebraska, the Midwest, and Kansas and adjacent states. They overlap somewhat.

Delegates to a two-day conference here are seeking agreement on three identical constitutions for the three synods. If that is successful, and if there are no objections at the spring synodical meetings, final approval of the merger can be obtained in 1954.

The three synods have congregations in Kansas, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Parents and faculty of RANDOLPH P.T.A. met Tuesday evening at the school when the featured attraction of the program was a hobby show. Teachers and parents exhibited their hobbies and handicrafts after which the parents presented a talent show. Dan Seiberling served as master of ceremonies, and a revue of native costumes of foreign lands was presented by a group of the mothers.

Following a program of music, in which the Randolph Mothersingers participated, Mrs. Adrian Legault presided at the short business meeting. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Albert Staats, Mrs. Simon L. Zadina and Mrs. G. A. Foster.

Mrs. Richard Armstrong presided at the November meeting of BELLEVILLE P.T.A., Tuesday evening, when guest speaker was Dr. R. L. Fredstrom, associate superintendent of schools. Dr. Fredstrom spoke to the group on, "Progress in New Teaching Methods," following a program of group singing and music by a quartet including Victor Groth, Charles Bouwens, Robert Johnson and DeWayne Froese, all students at Hayward school.

Mothers of kindergarten pupils were hostesses for the evening with Mrs. Dale King and Mrs. William Muehlhausen in charge of arrangements.

Ninth grade visiting day was featured Tuesday at IRVING school when the members of to right: Mrs. H. D. Hetherington, Mrs. Adrian Legault, president of the P.T.A. met for their monthly meeting at 2:15 o'clock. Mrs. Elery Hall Davis presided at the meeting after which tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Norman Shields, chairman, Mrs. John Muehlhausen, Mrs. Duncan Sowles, Mrs. Ralph Beecher, Mrs. Bart Vance and Mrs. J. H. Wilbur.

A special program was presented by the girls' advanced chorus, directed by Miss Ruth Haberly, with Mrs. Marjorie Vaughan as accompanist, and a physical education demonstration was given by the ninth grade boys under the direction of William Heggen.

At the November meeting of HAWTHORNE P.T.A., Tuesday afternoon, Miss Rebecca Oldfather, head of the children's department of the city library, spoke to the members, after which a review of the book, "Virginia Reel," was given by Mrs. Vaughn Yantz.

—the polio epidemic is still uppermost in many people's minds and, despite recent encouraging reports, it is far from over. A medical journal estimates that it would take 20 million blood donations a year to supply the immunizing globulin needed for epidemic protection and other demands. (Last year's score was just under 5 million donations). And don't forget—the immunity is only a temporary one, lasting, at tops, six to seven weeks. Current developments are however, a most important advance and chances of partial protection in severe epidemic areas are improved for next year.

—it's comforting to hear of other people who are absent-minded, too. A local hostess, who had invited four guests for dinner (making five including herself) had the table set for four people and four thick, juicy steaks all ready on the broiler when one of her guests wandered out into the kitchen and happened to notice the four steaks. In a casual way he inquired who was not eating meat that evening. He was hastily dispatched to the nearest delicatessen for an additional steak while the hostess added another place at the table.

BRIDE of the near future, Miss Patricia Watson, who will be married to Norman Locke in a December ceremony, will be the guest of honor Thursday when Mrs. Earl R. Wilson entertains twelve guests at luncheon at her home. Coming from out of town for the affair will be the bride-to-be's mother, Mrs. R. M. COURTESY for another out of town guest will be the small dinner this evening at the Lincoln Country Club when Mrs. C. F. Ladd will be hostess for her granddaughter, Miss Lesley Grainger of Salinas, Cal., and Miss Grainger's fiancé, Lt. William Browne, whose marriage will take place in February on the west coast. Miss Grainger will leave Friday to return home after a week's visit in Lincoln, and Lt. Browne, who has been guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Browne, will return to Maryland where he is stationed with the army.

Introducing— The Samuel Kingerys

No, they aren't drafting second graders at Randolph school . . . It is just seven year old Kip Kingery about to cut a few capers in his dad's navy cap! Lt. (jg) Kingery and his family are all settled in their new home at 4245 E street while the lieutenant serves his shore duty at the Naval Air Station here.

New residents from San Diego, the Kingerys are again a family now that daddy is home from his second trip to Korea. Lt. Kingery had the dubious honor of being stationed on the first carrier to pull out of San Diego for Korea after the "police action" began, in 1950.

A native of Hughson, Calif., Lt. Kingery attended Modesto junior college and Southwestern university and is in his eighth year as a regular navy man. Before our hunting season in Nebraska is over, he hopes to bag a few birds, and also loves to fish if he can find the time. His attractive wife is a native of California . . . and grew up in San Diego. A former student at San Diego state college, she served as secretary for the county and city school system before their marriage.

The Kingerys love the outdoors, naturally, and for their guests in San Diego, they held wiener roasts and played a great deal of bridge. They aren't too fond of swimming . . . remember we said that the lieutenant has spent seven and-a-half years in the Navy! Mrs. Kingery's main hobby is still in California; her beloved horse must remain on her uncle's ranch there for several years since the Navy makes no provision for moving livestock. They hope to spend some time this winter with some members of his old squadron who plan to come, and perhaps their family will brave the journey by stagecoach to old Nebraska to visit next year!

Minerva's Mail

This morning I am going to answer a letter of a few days ago from "A High School Sophomore." This writer said that her boy friend, a senior in high school, planned their evenings together so that they always had time to neck, and that when they went to parties, he always wanted to find some dark corner where they could neck.

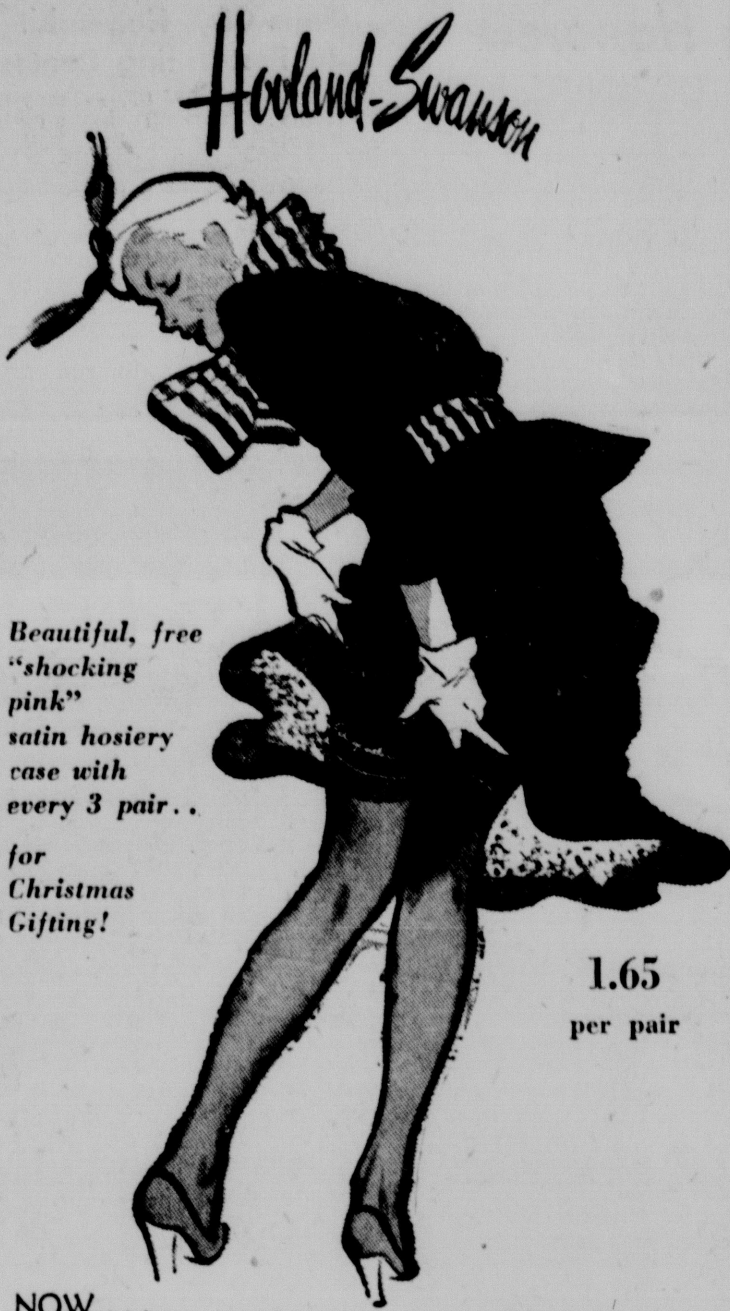

Well, Sophomore, I think it is up to you to avoid this situation. Perhaps you can do it through your own actions and perhaps you will have to have a talk with this boy. When you have a date to a movie, suggest that you go a little later than usual and then when the movie is over, go back to your home and fix something to eat, talk to your parents or even dance. If you plan enough activities to occupy your time, he will forget about necking.

I would suggest the same procedure for parties. If the party lulls, suggest a game or a dance, such as the "shag" that you and your date and the rest of your friends can do too. In short, if you will just keep ideas for things to do on your fingertips, I think you will have your problem solved.

If this doesn't work, tell your friend that you don't like to spend so much time necking. If he thinks as much of you as you apparently think of him, he will respect you for telling him and in all probability will respect your decision. In fact he will probably be happy that you told him.

Tomorrow we will have a letter from a "Jiggs Sympathizer," who has compared the comic strip with happenings in everyday life.

Motor Vehicle Taxation Method Scheduled For Full-Scale Airing

How should motor vehicles in Nebraska be taxed? That is the question that is slated for a full-scale airing here Thursday.

The group, "Nebraskans for the Six Constitutional Amendments," headed by Sen. Earl Lee of Fremont, has called the meeting.

School groups, organizations involved with motor vehicles, and others interested in tax matters have been invited to appear and present their views.

One of the constitutional amendments approved by the voters Nov. 4 was one giving the Legislature the authority and responsibility for saying how motor vehicles should be taxed.

Same Levies

Motor vehicles now are subject to the same levies as other property. But because they are so mobile, and because it was possible to operate a motor vehicle nearly two years sometimes without paying any property tax on it, advocates of the amendment said, thousands of dollars in taxes were being lost every year.

State Tax Commissioner Philip Johnson's office has prepared some figures pointing some of the angles involved.

The total assessed valuation of motor vehicles in Nebraska was reported as $298,977,430 this year. This is almost exactly 10 per cent of the total assessed valuation of all property—$3,087,816,140.

But because there is heavy concentration of motor vehicles in the high-tax districts, the proportionate number of tax dollars collected on this class of property is not the same.

This is indicated by the fact that in Scotts Bluff County, for example, motor vehicles make up 14.97 per cent of the county's total assessed valuation. Hall County is close behind, at 14.29 per cent.

The percentage for other counties includes:

Prior to the election, some school officials voiced fears that the proposed amendment might endanger their revenues. Advocates of the amendment replied with a pledge to devise a system that would provide the schools with at least as large a share of the revenue as they receive now.

That's the problem which will be tackled at the meeting here Thursday.

COP Firm To Be Honored

The Silar Mason Company, which operates the Cornhusker Ordnance Plant at Grand Island, is to be honored at a dinner there Thursday night for its work for the handicapped.

R. C. Patterson, state adjutant of the Nebraska American Legion, said 7 per cent of the company's Grand Island employees are handicapped persons. Of the 212 persons in this group, 85 are veterans.

The Nebraska Legion each year recognizes some employer for work for the handicapped.

Besides Patterson, those going to Grand Island from Lincoln for the Thursday night meeting will include John Curtiss, national Legion executive committeeman from Nebraska; William Cotter, state Legion employment chairman; and Warren Baker, activities director.

State Commander Warren Wood is expected to attend from Gering.

OU Runners Shine; Pass Finesse Off

Only Leake, Ed Rowland Will Miss Husker Game

By The Associated Press
NORMAN, Okla. — The Oklahoma Sooners ran through their first scrimmage of the week Tuesday in preparation for Saturday's football classic with Nebraska.

Coaches reported the running game showed up in good shape but the team's passing finesse was off.

Oklahoma is expected to field an eleven fairly free of injuries. Only Halfback Buddy Leake, out with a sprained ankle, and Defensive Tackle Ed Rowland are sure absentees. Rowland is benched for the season with a bad knee.

Jays Go Full Speed

LAWRENCE, Kas.—The Kansas offensive football team ripped through a brief but full-speed scrimmage while the defensive platoon had a dummy session.

Three regulars took no part in the workout because of knee injuries and they still are on the doubtful list for the Missouri game at Columbia Saturday. They are Halfbacks Charlie Hoag and John Konek and Tackle George Mironic.

Cyclone Back Is OK

AMES, Ia.—Iowa State Coach Abe Stuber lost a right end and gained a right halfback for the Cyclones' final game of the season at Kansas State Saturday.

Stuber said Mike Swale twisted a knee during Monday's practice and he doubted that the offensive end would be able to play Saturday.

However, Right Halfback Frank Congiardo, who it was thought would miss the K-State game because of a leg infection, will be ready, Stuber said.

The Cyclone defensive and offensive units went through light contact workouts against anticipated Wildcat formations.

Wildcats Go Slow

MANHATTAN, Kas.—Kansas State's Wildcats had a relatively light scrimmage.

Coach Bill Meek worked the team for about 30 minutes at the end of the practice session in some offensive plays.

Coach Meek says he has no serious injuries at present and barring any that may be incurred this week in the remaining two practice sessions, his boys will probably be in the best physical condition Saturday against Iowa State since the season started.

The Wildcats coach says he plans some more rough work for Wednesday with an easing up on Thursday. The team will rest Friday.

Tigers Drill Offense

COLUMBIA, Mo.—The University of Missouri football squad worked for an hour on offense and they listened for another hour to Scout John Simmons' description of the offense and defense which the Tigers will face when the Kansas Jayhawkers come to Memorial Stadium here next Saturday.

There was no contact work for the Tigers as Coach Don Faurot sought to heal old bruises and avoid new ones before the homecoming finale with the Jayhawkers.

It seems like the perfect job is always one that someone else has. A few weeks ago a Medical Bureau in Chicago advertised for a young doctor for a $50,000 a year job taking care of a King's harem.

The King was not identified, except that he lives in a "sultry" far-off country. Applications poured in like a buffalo stampede. It isn't every day a stethoscope pilot has a chance to make a bevy of harem beauties say "Ah!" especially for a nice large round sum. Even doctors have an interest in cash accounts. There's one catch. The Doc has to be married. The King doesn't want any harem-scarem employees.

What Happened To The Rose Bowl Squad?

SAY, it's hard to realize that a dozen years have slipped away since the Nebraska Cornhuskers were in the Rose Bowl. Seems only yesterday that names like Hopp, Rohrig, Luther, Francis and Alfson were household words.

What are all these Rose Bowlers doing now? We gave it a check and came up with a wide range of geography.

The coach, Biff Jones, is now a prominent real estate man in Washington, D.C. Glenn Pressnell, backfield mentor, operates a drug store in Irontown, O. Line Coach Link Lyman has become a big name in Texas Insurance circles. Harold Browne, end coach and one of the sharpest scouts ever, has retired and resides in Lincoln. Trainer Elwyn "Doc" Dees runs a farm at Steele City, Kan.

Col. Floyd Bottorff, dean of the Big Seven equipment managers, is in his 23rd year with the Huskers. A. J. Lewandowski is now business manager of athletics. Ed Weir has given up football chores to devote full attention to track.

Hank Rohn is a traveling salesman and Wayne Blue is a major in the Army Air Corps. Fred Metheny, after becoming one of Nebraska's most decorated war heroes, went into the FBI and was then called back into the Army as a captain. Bob Kahler, after great success at Wayne College, moved up to the head coaching job at Illinois Normal.

Bus Knight is an executive in a suburban Lincoln bank. Hermie "Pear Shape" Rohrig runs a sporting goods store. Dale Bradley is a rising Montgomery Ward executive in Chicago. Jack Vincent is a doctor at Ft. Dodge, Ia. Theos Thompson, last we heard, had completed work on his doctor's degree in physics at California.

AL ZIKMUND, at Alliance, is one of Nebraska's brightest young prep coaches. Vike Francis is a beer wholesaler at Salina, Kan. Cowboy Roy Petcher now operates "The Line," a big nightclub and restaurant near Torrington, Wyo.

Royal (King Kong) Kahler is working at the Hastings Naval Ammunition depot. Forrie Behm is an executive with a glass company at Corning, N.Y. Marv (Bub) Thompson owns a package store at Mitchell, Neb. Gene Whitehead is an airline pilot. Warren Alfson is feeding cattle near Wisner. Eddie Schwartzkopf is assistant coach at Lincoln High.

Dick Luther is in business at Cambridge. Did we say business? The guy owns half the town.

George Abel heads the Abel Construction Company. Vic Schleich runs the bottling works at Wymore. Roy Ludwig is a doctor at Sterling, Colo. Jerry Kathol is an oil geologist at Wichita, Kan. and Leonard (Dad) Bunker is in the same business at Oklahoma City.

Leonard Muskin is developing housing projects at Culver City, Cal. Ray Prochaska stayed on as football and track assistant at Nebraska. Howard Kelly is in business in Grand Island. Lynn Meyer was in Korea as a major. Freddy Meier is an engineer (civil) at Fresno, Cal. Bill (The Baron) Bryant is practicing engineering at Norwalk, Cal.

Clarence Herndon now supervises a series of farms, ranging from Kansas to Canada. Bob Burruss is an army colonel, last stationed in Denver.

Three Rose Bowlers—Bob Bonahoom, Butch Luther and Burdette Wertmen—gave their lives in World War II, as did Student Manager Jack (Monk) Meyer.

FOOTPHILES . . . Billy Shantz, the Lincoln A's catcher, left Philadelphia Wednesday for Panama where he will play winter baseball . . . Seeing him off was Brother Bob, the American League's most valuable player . . . Say, shouldn't Bobby be worth at least 40 grand to the A's next season? . . . Johnny Neft of Fremont, the Nebraska prep back of the year in 1951, is president of his frosh class at Stanford . . . on the football field, he's only a sub halfback, but Stanford is said to have the west coast's top frosh crop . . . Mascot of the Alliance high team is three-year old Dick Hutton, son of Line Coach Luther Hutton . . . He's named for the late Husker halfback whiz, Dick, who was Luther's younger brother.

In answer possibly to the Minneapolis papers' reports that Minnesota had an easy time with Nebraska, Coach Wes Fesler of the Gophers says in his Tribune column: "Believe me, the most worrisome game of the season is over. I started the Nebraska game with four packages of chewing gum in my pocket. After the game was over, I reached for a stick and discovered that every piece was gone."

Oregon President Is In Favor Of Dropping Rose Bowl Game

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—Talk of dropping the Rose Bowl football game is opposed Tuesday by two Northern members of the Pacific Coast Conference and favored by one. The other two aren't talking.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College, forecast that the Big Ten will not renew its Rose Bowl contract with the Coast Conference after the present agreement ends. Hannah said he favors dropping all post-season games.

Oregon State College and Washington State College oppose any thought of dropping the Rose Bowl game. Oregon likes the idea, and Washington and Idaho would not say, although a Washington spokesman indicated opposition.

Dr. A. L. Strand, president of Oregon State, expressed belief that California members favor the Rose Bowl and said:

"The Northern schools are not going to vote against the Rose Bowl."

At Oregon, President Harry K. Newburn declared that all post-season games ought to be abolished because they interfere with studies.

At Washington State College, Dr. Golden Romney, dean of athletics, said:

"I have a feeling that the majority in our conference will want to keep it."

"If you want to de-emphasize, make a boy ineligible if he gets money 'under the table' and penalize the school."

At Washington, H. P. Everett, faculty representative on the Coast Conference, said Dr. Hannah should "make his predictions only about the Big Ten."

President Jesse Buchanan of Idaho said he ought not to comment on the question. Idaho is a traditional poor relation in the Conference, never has played in the post-season classic and in recent years has not played California members of the PCC.

1952-53 Season Gets Under Way Friday

Cage Prospects Bright At Teachers

By WAYNE PANTER
Star Sports Staff Member
WITH football barely in mothballs, Teachers College High School makes a bid for the Capital City prep sports spotlight when it opens the 1952-53 cage season Friday night against Malcolm.

The non-football-playing Tutors called anything but good. With eight returning lettermen—four of them starters last year—Teachers may be on the road to another season comparable to that of two years ago, when Stan Matzke and Bill Johnson—now with Coach Harry Good's Huskers—sparked the team to the State Tournament Class B semifinals.

On this year's starting five are Jim Thom, six foot, six and one-half inch junior center; Bob Wilson, diminutive 5-5 guard, also a junior; Sid Seamark, a six-foot senior back court ace, and Lefty Hixson, 5-11 senior forward, all starters last year.

Moving in to fill the vacant forward slot is Ray Rickert, another six-footer. All are lettermen, in addition to Bruce Kolb and Wayne Rullison, both seniors, and Hal Rowe, a junior.

Wilson was the team's second-highest scorer last year, with 196 points contributed toward the team's 13-won, six-loss record. Hixson hit for 146 points, Seamark 125, Thom 103 and Rickert 81 as members of last year's well-balanced club.

"How well we do this year depends a great deal on how Thom develops as center," says Snook. "If he comes along, we ought to have a good ball club. We could be as good as we were two years ago," he said modestly.

Others rounding out the Tutor roster are Jerry McKay, Roland Snook and Bruce Hoffman, juniors, and Seniors Jim Steckman and Duane Nineman.

Seventeen games have been called by Snook, including two tilts with Class A clubs. Teachers will travel to Beatrice in mid-January and will play a home-and-home series with Belleville, Kan., classified in the top bracket in that state.

The schedule:
Nov. 21—at Malcolm.
Dec. 2—Geneseo, 9—at Blair, 16—Omaha Holy Name.
Jan. 2—at Wahoo, 6—Belleville, Kan. 9—at Tecumseh, 13—at Beatrice, 16—St. Bonaventure of Columbus, 23—at Cathedral, 30—at Superior, 31—at Belleville, Kan. Feb. 10—Wilber, 13—Horton, 14—at Col lege View, 20—Plattsmouth, 27—Ashland.

Cross Responds To Rally Demand For Bowl Game

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—University of Oklahoma President George L. Cross responded to a student demonstration Tuesday night that he would sanction a football bowl trip for the Sooners in defiance of a Big Seven ban if the team wants to go.

He disclosed the school has received several feelers from the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla. "The only honorable course would be to withdraw from the conference," Cross told the 200 demonstrators on his lawn. He said he would confer with Head Coach Bud Wilkinson Wednesday on a possible decision.

"I would be perfectly willing to go," Cross declared, but added he could not authorize the trip unless all concerned agreed to face probable Big Seven disciplinary action.

The torchlight parade demanded that Oklahoma bolt the conference after Cross said, "we've already done all we can do," referring to a faculty representatives meeting at Kansas City last week at which the bowl ban was upheld.

"We're in the dog house with the Big Seven for many reasons," Cross said at the start of the demonstration.

"Neither Bud nor I think it would be smart to violate the rules," Cross said.

The university regents recently left the fateful decision up to Cross and the team.

Irish Officials To Plead TV Case Sunday

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Two Notre Dame officials, seeking to "open up" college football television next year, will attend a Nov. 30 meeting of the NCAA TV committee in New York.

Athletic Director Ed Krause said Tuesday he will accompany the Rev. Edmund Joyce, Notre Dame athletic board chairman and the school's executive vice-president, in an appearance before the committee.

Krause said Notre Dame was invited to the meeting by Asa Bushnell, TV director for the NCAA.

Notre Dame has been sharply critical of the NCAA's controlled football video programs of the past two seasons, contending they infringed upon the rights of individual schools.

Basilio TKOs Chuck Foster

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Carmen Basilio of Syracuse, throwing hard rights and lefts from the start, Tuesday night scored a technical knockout over Chuck Foster of Omaha, Neb., in the fifth round of a welterweight fight in Memorial Auditorium.

The referee stopped the bout in 2:09 of the fifth. It had been scheduled to go eight rounds. Basilio weighed 150½, to Foster's 144½.

Basilio opened fast and appeared to have Foster at his mercy by the third round. The fight ended in the fifth when blood began to spout from Foster's nose.

An estimated 2,500 fans saw the program.

NU Offense Overhauled; Reynolds Named Captain

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

A drill in sweat togs was the Nebraska program Tuesday as Coach J. William Glassford undertook a thorough offensive overhauling.

The Cornhusker mentor devoted particular attention to passing.

Although his Huskers currently rank eighth in the nation in total offense, they failed to complete a pass against Minnesota while getting 321 yards on the ground.

That total, the highest registered by any 1952 foe against the Gophers, moved the Huskers up from 10th to eighth spot in figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. In averaging 257.7 yards per game, the Huskers follow Tulsa, San Jose State, Oklahoma, West Virginia, California, Princeton and Arizona.

Glassford realizes that his Huskers must improve their passing Saturday to cope with the Sooners, who are averaging 293.1 per out on land and also rank third nationally in total offense with a huge average of 414.9.

All-America Bobby Reynolds, who will be playing his last game, has been named captain. Reynolds swept to three touchdowns in eight minutes at Norman in 1950 to cement his claim for All-America honors.

Glassford said that he will send his squad through a scrimmage Wednesday before tapering off for the Sooners.

Oklahoma is already rated a three-touchdown favorite.

The following Huskers figure in the various Big Seven races:

John Bordogna — fifth in rushing, third in passing and fifth in scoring.

Reynolds — 10th in rushing and seventh in scoring.

George Cifra — ninth in rushing.

Bill Thayer — 10th in punt returns.

Ray Novak — 14th in scoring.

Jim Cederdahl — third in punting.

Ten Americans—including Troy Ruttman, winner of the 1952 Indianapolis "500" classic—will be among the drivers of 92 cars which will get the green flag today in the world's longest automobile race, the Pan American Road Race from the Guatemala to U. S. borders of Mexico. Included among the foreign drivers are Piero Taruffi and Alberto Ascari, the Italians who finished one-two last year.

This year's five-day race is open both to stock and sports models of U. S. and foreign-built cars.

A spokesman for "Ducks Unlimited" said in Canada Tuesday that a mass migration of water fowl from Canada to the South is imminent. Unseasonably warm weather in the Northlands has delayed the exodus of the birds.

Harry Combes, Illinois basketball coach, shuddering at speculation that the Illini will be the top club in the nation, opines that UCLA, LaSalle, Kansas State, Minnesota and Indiana will be the top clubs. "Maybe," says Combes, "Illinois should be with them."

Outstanding pairs of linebackers on the UCLA and USC teams may mean tough going for the clubs' standout tailbacks. UCLA's Paul Cameron will get trouble from George Timberlake and Marvin Goux while the Trojans' Jim Sears will have to buck Donn Moomaw and Terry Deaky.

Nebraska horse-racing ranked 16th in the nation in attendance and revenue in both 1951 and 1952, according to an Associated Press survey.

Tulsa Ousts Spartans As Top Gainers

NEW YORK (AP)—The University of Tulsa displaced Michigan State as the nation's major college offense leader and Oklahoma as the rushing leader this week.

Tulsa, by gaining 684 yards against Detroit last Friday, brought its average up to 456.3 yards a game according to figures released Tuesday by the National Collegiate A. A. service bureau.

Of this an average of 301.9 yards has been gained on the ground.

The Golden Hurricanes, last year's offense leaders, aren't among the first 15 teams in passing, where Illinois leads the pack with 1,759 yards.

EVERY YEAR... FUEL SYSTEM

RUST gets 1 car in 4

STOP RUST in your car

Did you know that car owners using ordinary gasoline are paying an estimated $100,000,000 a year for repairs to carburetors, fuel pumps and fuel lines damaged by rust and corrosion? It's a fact! Rust cripples 1 car in 4 every year—costs each unlucky owner up to $18 for repairs.

Stop rust... save money and the inconvenience of breakdowns by using Sinclair Anti-Rust Gasoline regularly—so different it's been granted a U. S. Patent. Only Sinclair Gasoline contains the amazing rust inhibitor, RD-119®. Used regularly, it prevents the formation of harmful rust and corrosion.

Start now to use patented Sinclair Anti-Rust Gasoline. You get all the flashing power, long mileage and high anti-knock of modern gasolines. You get Anti-Rust Protection, too—at no extra cost. For top performance, ask your Sinclair Dealer for Sinclair Anti-Rust Ethyl.

Only at Sinclair Dealers!

Allies Split On Truce Plan

... British, French Speak Favorably Of India Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—Britain and France differed with the U.S. Tuesday over India's Korean truce resolution as Secretary of State Acheson briefed Gen. Eisenhower on the American "peace with honor" plan.

The divergence among the Western powers was spotlighted when a French spokesman disputed a U.S. warning that India's proposal might prolong the prisoner-of-war deadlock and leave thousands of POW's to rot indefinitely in prison camps.

The British called the Indian suggestion "an important proposal that reflects the viewpoint of all Asia" and said practical details of the plan — to which the U. S. delegation now objects — could be ironed out at Panmunjom rather than in U. N.

Acheson carried the American position to Washington to brief president-elect Eisenhower on the "three principles" which the U.S. insists must be incorporated in any peace plan. They are:

1. No forced repatriation or detention of war prisoners.
2. Any plan to handle the prisoner question must be workable and must produce real results within a reasonable time.
3. War prisoners should not be subjected to long internment as the only alternative to repatriation.

Before leaving for Washington, Acheson indicated he will return to U. N. determined to push hard for a showdown on Korea. A spokesman for the U.S. delegation added Tuesday that he believes

U. N. should reach a decision on Korea by Dec. 20 at the latest. The Indian proposal would create a commission of four nations headed by an "umpire" to judge within 90 days the fate of war prisoners. The prisoners would be kept in neutralized areas under the supervision of the four-nation group — Sweden, Switzerland, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Word has been received by Lincoln friends of the death of Mason M. Ramey, 61, formerly of Lincoln and a native of Exeter.

Funeral services were held Saturday in Seattle, Wash., where Mr. Ramey and his wife resided since leaving Lincoln in 1942. He collapsed and died of a heart ailment while presiding at a West Seattle Rotary Club meeting in the West Seattle Golf Clubhouse.

Mr. Ramey attended the Exeter schools and the University of Nebraska prior to entering the real estate business. While in Lincoln he was with the sales department of the C. C. Kimball Company.

For three years Mr. Ramey served as First Reader at the Christian Science Church in Lincoln. His son, Robert J., was a member of the Cornhusker football team while attending the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Ramey visited friends in Lincoln last month.

He was a member of the Washington State Association of Realtors, the West Seattle Real Estate Board, the West Seattle Commercial Club, the YMCA and the West Seattle Rotary Club, the Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, and the World Affairs Council of Seattle.

Surviving are his wife, Odessa; a daughter, Mrs. Gwendolyn Sepestoski of China Lake, Calif.; a son, Robert J. of Montclair, N. J.; a sister, Miss M. E. Ramey of Seattle; and two brothers, W. P. Ramey of Independence, Ore., and C. F. Ramey of Seattle.

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiernan

(Distributed by International News Service)

The meeting scheduled for the White House will be known in a administration circles at "the meeting on the second Tuesday after that miserable first Tuesday in November."

It is going around to find out where to hang his Eisenhower jacket and which button to push to change the cabinet.

He won't be the first Republican to visit the White House in 20 years, but he will be the first to tell the housekeeper what he'd like for breakfast for the next four years.

And I'd like to be a fly on the wall when Harry says, "Now about those back platform speeches of mine..."

Before he turns in his key, it would be only fair to him to have Adlai for a look at the apartment he might have gotten the story. The Chinese didn't.

lease... If it wasn't for the enthusiasm of his road agent.

All I know is that if Adlai wants a post in this next administration, he'd have a lot of people who voted against him regretfully, cheering for him enthusiastically.

QUIRKS

WITH THE U.S. THIRD DIVISION, Korea--Pfc. Edward McClintock, Pottstown, Pa., generously gave an American hand grenade to a Chinese Communist but he'll never be court martialed for it.

McClintock was returning from a patrol. On a hilly path he met a surprised Chinese soldier face to face.

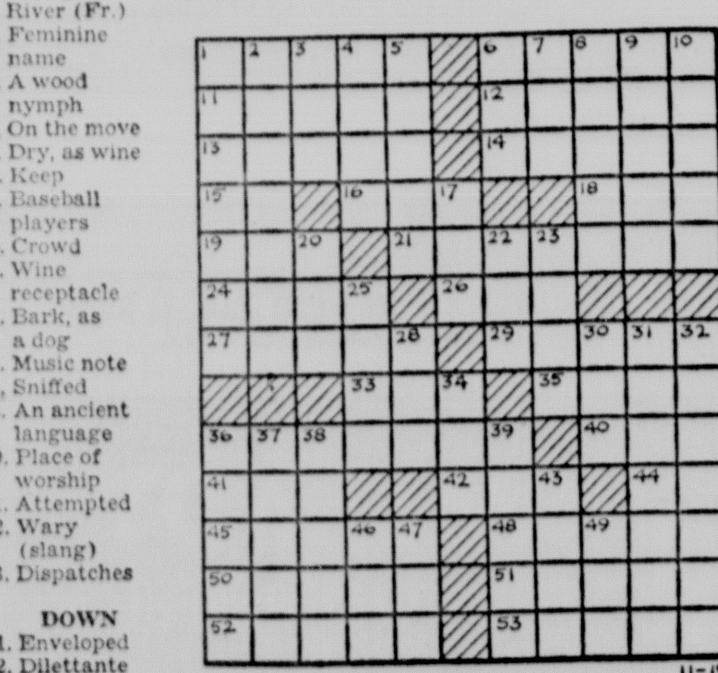

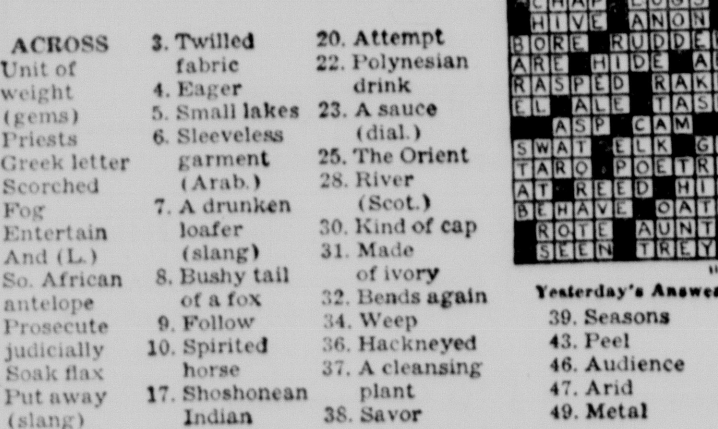

"He was as surprised as I was," McClintock said.

"Faster than thinking about it, I pulled the pin out of my grenade and held it out to him. He grabbed it."

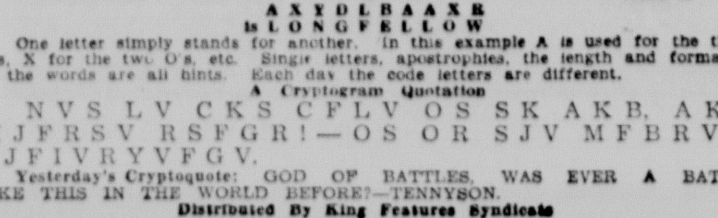

McClintock dove down the slope. The surprised Chinese soldier dropped the grenade and it went off at his feet.

McClintock returned to tell the story. The Chinese didn't.

U.S. Says Business Is Good For Industry And Consumer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The mid-autumn business picture is rosy for both industry and consumer, the Commerce Department said Tuesday night. Sales and production are rising, prices and unemployment declining.

The November survey of current business by the department's Office of Business Economics said industrial production moved up in October and was still rising early this month. Mills turned out raw steel in record volume and more automobiles rolled off the assembly lines.

"Personal income has continued to rise," the survey said. "Consumer spending was maintained." September retail sales of automobiles increased sharply and were chiefly responsible for a 3 per cent rise of all retail sales during the month.

The department noted a weakening in the price of raw materials — a 3 per cent drop in October — and a dip of 2 per cent in prices received by farmers.

Such declines at the producer level normally foretell a drop in retail prices. The cost-of-living index already had declined a modest 0.2 per cent, the first dip since February.

While the total number of jobholders dropped 400,000 in October because of students returning to school and leaving the labor force, the number of unemployed also dropped. Unemployment of 1,300,000 was a post-war low and employment in non-farm jobs was at an all-time high for October—54,600,000.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the little kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Portable Hunting Lodge

ROCKLAND, Me. (AP)—When Simon Hamalainen goes in search of a deer he'll take his hunting lodge with him. Hamalainen's lodge is an old bus—with a good engine—he bought from a sardine cannery.

Conversion included tearing out the seats, installation of three bunks, a portable table, a heater and a gas range for cooking. The vehicle is a bit low for Hamalainen's 6-foot-plus frame but he says the stove at the front will permit him to cook from the lower level of the first step.

"Sure beats sleeping in the woods," say Hamalainen, a handy man with tools.

Testimony In Hughes, Jarrico Suit Begins

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Testimony began Tuesday in the legal dispute between screenwriter Paul Jarrico and Howard Hughes, former head of RKO Studios.

The case involves the firing of Jarrico because of his refusal to answer a congressional committee's inquiry as to whether he had been a Communist.

Superior Judge Orlando Rhodes Monday denied a motion by Jarrico that he be given a judgment in the suit under the pleadings and ordered the case heard on its merits.

Jarrico is suing Hughes for screen credit for a film he claims he wrote for RKO. Hughes claims when Jarrico was fired his entire script was discarded and a new one written by a different writer.
